This October, after two years of online-only activity, PAD London returns to the capital for a week-long showcase of exceptional design. This high-profile event takes place every October on Berkeley Square, in the heart of London's affluent Mayfair district.

Founded in 2007 by fourth-generation Parisian antique dealer Patrick Perrin, PAD London is the only fair in the UK exclusively dedicated to Contemporary, 20th Century Design and Decorative Arts. Celebrating craftsmanship and innovation, the fair's 14th edition will once again delight art and design lovers with a world-class selection of works spanning contemporary and decorative arts. From major cities across Europe, North America and Asia they are coming together to offer an exceptional panorama of the most coveted and iconic works available on the market today. 18 new exhibitors join 67 returning galleries and include Francis Sultana (London), Charles Zana (Paris), Cristina Grajales (New York) and Galerie Gabriel et Guillaume (Beirut).

Faithful to the distinctive flair and originality that forged PAD's reputation over the years, this highly anticipated edition will premiere outstanding works by emerging and iconic talents, while also shedding light on rare, age-old techniques, new sustainable crafts and innovative materials that inform design today. Many of the visionary exhibitors who have contributed to PAD's prestige are returning, joined by prominent international galleries and jewellery houses which will make their debuts at the fair.

A permanent fixture on Paris and London's vibrant art and design circuits, PAD fair has become a byword for connoisseurship, exquisite taste and curatorial flair. With their distinct approach to collecting, PAD fairs epitomise how artistic genres across time and periods interact to reveal astonishing combinations and create the most individual and striking interiors.

PAD offers visitors the opportunity to both immerse themselves and purchase museum quality objects with a fascinating history behind them. ■
