

JEWELLERY

Inside the dazzling world of PAD jewellery

Set in the vibrant heart of Mayfair, PAD is London's leading fair for 20th Century art, design and decorative arts, where collectors, connoisseurs and luxury admirers from across the globe gather to feast their eyes on exquisite pieces of art and culture. As always, this year's exhibitors included some of the world's finest jewellers – Tatler takes a look at the stand out pieces from PAD 2019

Taffin

Founded by New York-based French designer James de Givenchy, Taffin pioneered the use and manipulation of ceramic material in high jewellery. Known for creating unique, one-off pieces, the brand showcased publicly for the first time this year at PAD with a range of wearable sculptures, each one more intricate than the next.

Emerald Cut Diamond, Grey Ceramic and Yellow Gold ring, POA, taffin.com

Hemmerle

Experts in the manipulation of aluminium and other alternative materials, these earrings combine the two core elements of Hemmerle jewellery: complex design and elegant aesthetic. Despite being large, these statement earrings are as light as a feather to wear, exemplifying Hemmerle's innovative material combinations.

Hemmerle earrings, topazes, aluminium, white gold, POA hemmerle.com

Anna Hu

Taiwanese-born designer Anna Hu's Monet Water Lilies Necklace is not only a work of art, but a feat of engineering. Her fantastical aesthetic is unique, with her pieces taking hundreds of hours of craftsmanship. Inspired by Claude Monet's Giverny Garden in France, Anna uses gemstones to depict the breathtaking colors and light-play of the Impressionist movement.

Monet Water Lilies Necklace, POA, annahu.com

Boghossian

Over 150 years old, the Maison Boghossian is known for impeccable craftsmanship and sculpture – and these diamond and chalcedony earrings show just that. Inspired by the effect of the wind on the sea, the delicate and beautiful pieces depict asymmetric waves. Cushion-shaped Diamond and Chalcedony Earrings, POA, boghossianjewels.com

Fabio Salini

Audacious and avant garde, Fabio Salini stunned with this statement necklace, which uses his signature raven-black carbon fibre and a myriad of vibrant gemstones. Personally designing each of his creations, Fabio works with contrasts and daring juxtapositions to revolutionise and test society's vision of classic high jewellery.

Necklace with Carbon Fibre, Gold, Diamonds and Mixed Gems, POA, fabiosalini.it

G

A look for every lighting, Glenn Spiro's flower earrings quite literally shone bright against their dark velvet case. Experimenting with porcelain, the Hyceram Luminex, red gold and burma ruby earrings were a refreshingly modern take on floral jewellery. The glow in the dark effect gives them an added twist, all while portraying the craftsmanship and integrity of the brand.

Hyceram Luminex earrings, POA, glennspiro.com

Supernova bracelet, POA by Lorenz Baumer. www.lorenzbaumer.com

Lorenz Baumer

This Place Vendôme designer travelled throughout much of his childhood, and this is reflected in his designs. Taking inspiration from the many countries he lived in and visited, Lorenz Baumer first came on the scene with his 'Ecume de Diamants' tiara for princess Charlène of Monaco's wedding, and has been creating unprecedented, one-of-a-kind pieces ever since. Take his Supernova bracelet, which represents an exploding star through an array of sapphires, aquamarine and monochrome black gold.

Supernova bracelet, POA, lorenzbaumer.com